ABOUT ME

I was born and raised in Montreal, Canada, by two wonderful parents and by MTV music videos. I'm fluent in English, French, Frenghish, and muffled NYC subway announcements. I'm laugh-out-loud hilarious, good-looking in a non-threatening kind of way, and most importantly, I'm incredibly humble.

EVERY JOB I'VE EVER HAD (almost)

Copywriter at 360i/Dentsu NYC (2021 - present)

Currently consuming a 7-Eleven Slurpee, a pack of Oreos, and a whole bag of SkinnyPop popcorn in hopes that their nutritional value will spark ideas for their brands' next big campaigns. So far I just have a stomach ache.

Babysitter to the Antichrist

Junior Copywriter at 72andSunny NYC (2019 - 2021)

Spent every day learning what I legally couldn't say in a global TV spot. Who knew you could get sued for trying to sell Smirnoff vodka to Victorian ghost children?

Plate dropper at an Italian restaurant

Copywriter intern at Sid Lee Montreal (2018)

Was actually paid to pursue greatest passions; write and direct several radio spots about fingerling potatoes and eat limitless Babybel cheeses.

Swim instructor to the community's elderly

Internship at Cartier advertising agency in Montreal (2016)

Worked alongside seasoned art directors to create professional ad campaigns and logos. Also mastered the "quick-weekend-recap-while-using-the-same-hand-dryer" in the agency's ladies' room.

The worst barista the world has ever seen

Internship at the Cirque du Soleil Costume Design Facility (2013)

Still brag about the burn marks received from making an especially tricky praying mantis costume for a Cirque show. See what I did? Just bragged about it again.
